Research Experience

Spring 2019-Present	Primary Researcher, Interviewer, Mentor USEU (Unión Salvadoreña de Estudiantes Universitarios) Memoria Histórica Project Faculty Advisors Dr. Leisy Ábrego, UCLA Chicano/a & Central American Studies Department, and Dr. Steven Osuna, California State University Long Beach (CSULB) Critical Sociology Department I have conducted more than 50 oral histories with student organizers involved in USEU, collected materials donated by former students for an online archive, and created a website that will serve as a digital repository for selected project materials. I also trained and mentored a team of 10 undergraduate students to become research assistants for this project. I conducted workshops on Salvadoran history, best practices in oral history, and methods in basic transcription.
Sep 2018-2019	Primary Interviewer, Central Americans in Los Angeles Oral History Project UCLA Center for Oral History Research I conducted oral history interviews with organizers who were actively involved in the 1980's Central American solidarity and sanctuary movement.
Fall 2012	Research Assistant Syracuse University, S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications, Dr. Susan Lysak I researched and wrote a complete literature review on foundation-funded journalism for an academic journal article written by Prof. Susan Lysak.

- Spring 2012 Research Assistant
University of California, Los Angeles, Department of Chicano and Chicana Studies, Dr. Leisy Abrego
 I investigated different research topics on the Salvadoran and Central American community for Dr. Leisy Abrego's book Sacrificing Families: Navigating Laws, Labor, and Love Across Borders.
- Summer 2010-Fall 2011 Co-Investigator "City Neighborhood Study 2011"
Columbia University, Principal Investigator Dr. Robert Shapiro
Co-Investigated by Narayani Lasala, Ernie Zavaleta, Diane Wong, Vladimir Medenica
 I was a part of the design team for the City Neighborhood Study 2011, which launched an investigation across five of the largest metropolitan cities in the United States. The purpose of the study is to compare and contrast the different political attitudes and racial dynamics of different ethnic groups across cities.
- Fall 2010-Spring 2012 Undergraduate Researcher
Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellowship Program, University of California, Los Angeles,
Faculty Advisors Dr. Mark Sawyer and Dr. Raymond Rocco, Department of Political Science
 I participated in various research seminars designed to help undergraduate students develop their research skills. I also continued to work on my senior thesis with various faculty mentors.
- Summer 2010 Undergraduate Researcher
Columbia University, Department of Political Science, Leadership Alliance
Faculty Mentor Robert Shapiro, Graduate Mentor Narayani Lasala
 I worked with Professor Robert Shapiro on a quantitative study of the development of political consciousness of Salvadoran youth involved in the Salvadoran student movement using various research methodologies. I conducted a survey poll (N=133), ran data regression using STATA, and analyzed my data. I presented my results at various conferences across the U.S.
- Fall 2009 Diversity Scholar/Researcher
University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Charlottesville Virginia
Faculty Mentor Richard Farkas, DePaul University, Department of Political Science
 I conducted an ethnographic research study on youth across nine different countries including Spain, Morocco, Ghana, South Africa, Mauritius, India, China, Vietnam, and Japan.

Teaching, Advising, Mentorship

- Spring 2020-Present Advisor
Testimonios of Family Separation: A Participatory Oral History Archive
 I provide feedback on best practices in methods and approaches to conducting oral histories, particularly when it comes to working with refugee populations and Central American communities. I also trained 5 undergraduate students on methods in oral history so that they could help collect interviews for the archive.
- Fall 2019-Present Co-Founder & Member
Central American Isthmus Graduate Association (CAIGA), University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
 I help recruit and mentor incoming graduate students whose research interests focus on Central America across departments at UCLA. I also mentor undergraduates and help organize events, workshops, and programs that bring visibility to scholarship contributing to Central American Studies at UCLA.
- Fall 2018-Present Co-Founder & Co-Chair/Member
Central American Studies Working Group, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
 As co-chair, I facilitated meetings with Central American faculty and graduate students, as well as helped organize workshops, job talks, panels, and film screenings related to Central American issues and scholarship. As a member, I continue to support by suggesting speakers and participating in meetings.
- Fall 2018-Spring 2020 Co-Founder, Advisor, and Political Education Coordinator
Unión Centroamericana (UNICA), University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
 As a graduate student, I advised and mentored undergraduate students on founding and establishing the Central American student union (UNICA) as an official student organization at UCLA. I also organized and facilitated various political education workshops that exposed undergraduate students to the social history of Central America, as well as contemporary topics relevant to the Central American diaspora.

- Spring 2020 Teaching Associate with Dr. Robin Derby, “Contemporary Latin American Culture”
Department of History, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
 I collaborated on curriculum and exam development, met with students upon request and during office hours, as well as graded all written work, including all exams.
- Winter 2020 Teaching Associate with Dr. Katherine Marino, “A History of Global Feminisms, 1850-Present.”
Department of History, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
 I collaborated on curriculum and exam development, met with students upon request and during office hours, as well as graded all written work, including all exams.
- Fall 2019 Teaching Associate with Dr. Leisy Ábrego, “Central Americans in the U.S.”
César E. Chávez Department of Chicano & Chicana Studies, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
 I collaborated on curriculum and exam development, met with students upon request and during office hours, as well as graded all written work, including all exams.
- Spring 2019 Teaching Assistant with Dr. Fernando Perez-Montesinos, “Social History of Modern Latin America”
Department of History, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
 I collaborated on curriculum and exam development, met with students upon request and during office hours, as well as graded all written work, including all exams.
- Winter 2019 Teaching Assistant with Dr. Robin Derby, “History of Modern Latin America”
Department of History, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
 I collaborated on curriculum and exam development, met with students upon request and during office hours, as well as graded all written work, including all exams.
- Fall 2018 Teaching Assistant with Dr. Leisy Ábrego, “Introduction to U.S. Central Americans”
César E. Chávez Department of Chicano & Chicana Studies, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)
 I collaborated on curriculum and exam development, met with students upon request and during office hours, as well as graded all written work, including all exams.
- Sep 2015 – 2019 Youth Program Instructor and Curriculum Developer
Central American Resource Center (CARECEN) Parent & Youth Center – Los Angeles, California
 As curriculum developer, I created the Political Education Youth Program curriculum. As an instructor, I co-facilitated workshops and programming where I taught youth ages 11-18 about political theory, Central American history, social movements, immigrant and worker rights, and filmmaking.
- Spring 2010 – 2016 Founder and Graduate Mentor
Nueva Conciencia, Graduate Mentorship Program
 I founded and mentored rising Central American undergraduate and graduate students. I sent out calls for academic papers that fulfilled Nueva Conciencia’s mission to increase research on Central American communities in an effort to bridge the gap between academia and the greater community. I also co-chaired the Peer Review Committee and reviewed all articles that were submitted as well as communicated with faculty members from different academic institutions to accredit all submitted and published articles by undergraduate and graduate students.
- Aug – Sep 2014 English & Life Skills Teacher and Curriculum Developer
Refugio Unaccompanied Children Shelter and Foster Care Program | Soledad Enrichment Action Inc.
 As a teacher for Refugio, a program started to serve young people in immigration custody awaiting family reunification, I was trained to teach English and work with recently migrated Central American youth between the ages of 14-17 years old. I also helped design the program’s Life Skills and English Language curriculum, as well as participated in staff meetings with youth case managers, clinicians, and care workers.

Extracurriculars - Public Service, Academic Service, Additional Work Experience

- Aug 2021 – Present Student Representative
Central American Section – Latin American Studies Association (CAS-LASA)
 I am currently serving as student representative in the CAS-LASA section and will be responsible for helping coordinated events, programs, and workshops related to Central American Studies within the Latin American Studies Association before and during the annual conference. I will also be responsible for handling all the CAS-LASA social media and updating the membership listserv.

Jan 2015 – Aug 2017

Lead Organizer & Digital Organizer

Central American Resource Center (CARECEN) – Los Angeles, California

As a lead organizer, I executed and supervised the implementation of CARECEN's organizing work plan, which prioritized projects and campaigns that have to do with immigrant rights, refugee rights, education reform, and worker rights. As a digital organizer, I redesigned and managed CARECEN's new website using Nation Builder, a web management platform that doubles as an online community organizing tool and database. My primary role was to not only manage the website, but also to train CARECEN organizers to use online organizing tools, as well as to update and maintain CARECEN's social media and online profiles to maximize its presence and community involvement on and offline.

Jan – May 2015

Post-Production & Research Intern

Brave New Films (BNF) – Los Angeles, California

I edited string-outs on Adobe Premiere Pro for Brave New Films, a non-profit production house and new media company that produces feature-length documentaries and investigative videos "to educate, influence and empower viewers to take action around issues that matters." I specifically worked on BNF's newest production "Making a Killing: Guns, Greed, and the NRA", a political documentary about the National Rifle Association and gun control policies in the United States. I also briefly worked in the research department investigating different topics and assignments for educational outreach purposes.

Aug 2013 – Jul 2014

Database and Communications Coordinator

Equal Voice for Southern California Families Alliance (EVSCF) – Los Angeles, California

As database management and communications coordinator for EVSCF, an alliance of 18 community-based non-profit organizations in Southern California united in a mission to fight for economic justice for working-class families, I created and managed EVSCF's membership database, as well as managed and maintained EVSCF's website, communications, and social media platforms. I also helped launch EVSCF's "Sunny Day Fund" campaign to lobby Gov. Jerry Brown to invest in social programs for working-class communities instead of putting California's budget surplus in our state "rainy day fund".

Jun – Aug 2013

Region 6 (Nursing Homes) Organizer In-Training

SEIU (Service Employee International Union) ULTCW (United Long-Term Care Workers), Local 6434

I worked as an intern in the Nursing Homes Division of the SEIU ULTCW on behalf of the UCLA Labor Center's Student Leadership Academy organizer training program. As a full-time employee, my tasks included reading and analyzing union contracts, doing facility visits to talk to and recruit workers to join the union, as well as assist in doing house calls and phone-banking for upcoming events and worker training seminars. I also contributed to efforts revolving around the 2013 Dignity Conference, an event organized to bring together all nursing home workers to push forward the ULTCW's Dignity Campaign, an initiative which aims to provide better quality care, life, and jobs for all represented union members.

Sep 2010 – Jun 2012

Statewide Coordinator – Central Coordinating Committee

Unión Salvadoreña de Estudiantes Universitarios (USEU) – California

I served as the statewide coordinator of the largest organization representing Salvadoran university students in the United States, including chapters at 11 different campuses across the state of California. My responsibilities included the establishment of the statewide structure, the coordination between the established chapters and the expansion of the organization throughout the state. Apart from assisting in officially establishing USEU at my home university, I also helped in the establishment of the chapter at UC Davis. I was also responsible for the execution of statewide projects, such as USEU's annual high school college fair, electoral delegations, statewide retreats, annual conferences, and the summer study abroad exchange program with the National University of El Salvador. I also served as a representative of the organization to institutions of the Salvadoran government and community coalitions.
